KundenrezensionenHilfreichste Kundenrezensionen1 von 1 Kunden fanden die folgende Rezension hilfreich. A travel diary from IndiaVon C. GriffithThis collection of diary entries, pieces of poems, personal reflections, and other notations written by Allen Ginsberg (poet + prophet) reveals a lot not only about Ginsberg, but about India itself. The conditions on the streets of Calcutta, Bombay, and other Indian cities are presented in stark clarity; many of the images he invokes are startling (like the burning ghats, or burial mounds), and sometimes even disturbing, but they are always described in a way that is at once personal and human. Ginsberg frequently writes about different Hindu gods and goddesses, reflecting his deep interest in and knowledge of Indian culture. There are a series of photographs that compliment the written words very well; as opposed to the original printing of this book, there are several new photographs included. I highly recommend this book to anyone interested in Allen Ginsberg, the Beats, Poetry, India, or the human spirit and its compassionate nature....0 von 0 Kunden fanden die folgende Rezension hilfreich. grande reading pleasure Von penny lane interesting insights in Ginsberg's way of writing. a must for every India-lover and of course for fans of Ginsberg. the fotos give an exciting view of the Indian spirit in the 60s, that is long gone by now... just read it!
