Brensinger is chair of the Biblical Studies, Religion, and Philosophy Department at Messiah College, Grantham, Pennsylvania. In Judges, a new title in the "Believers Church Bible Commentary Series", Professor Brensinger explains the ups and downs of the Israelites during the period of the judges. By tracing developments under each judge, he shows how Israel's condition deteriorates to near-total chaos. Judges begins with depictions of Israel's obedience and faithfulness, but ends with disunited and leaderless tribes. By exploring the circumstances behind this decline, Brensinger provides practical applications for such contemporary issues as religious unfaithfulness, the nature of community, the roles and responsibilities of leaders, and the ever present international conditions of war and violence. Judges is highly recommended reading for students of Biblical studies and the contemporary application of antiquarian Israelite events and values.
