Von FfhhI love finding good deals on this was one of these cases. Not only that we have recently moved with our kids to a different city so it was very relevant for us, we also speak English at home (from time to time) and it was a great practice for the kids as well. The stories are really good (also the illustrations) and I think they have an added value since it is simply more than just a good story.

Important: Help your Child Deal with Everyday Feelings of Anxiety Children these days have schedules that are overcrowded, and this causes many children to feel pressure. Your child will not only enjoy the 7 dolphins that help Rona, it will also assist your child in using this mini-process to transform negative feelings that they may hold into positive ones. Sweet Dream: The Perfect bedtime story about 7 dolphins Love, Peace, Joy, Trust, Courage, Fun and Challenge. It is an evidence-based book that uses character-education traits to help your child cope and deal with any feelings of anxiety. Why wait until next week when you can start having your child experience less overanxious feelings by purchasing this book? The beautiful illustrations and easy to follow language will capture any child's attention right away. Excerpt: One day, Challenge, who simply loved challenges, decided to challenge all the other dolphins to a contest to see who among them could make the funniest sound. Important: Help Your Child be Ready to Move to a New Location in a Positive Manner! If you and your family are preparing to relocate to a new town, city, neighborhood or even a new country, it is very important to have a solid preparation phase for your child. Unfortunately, a good preparation is something that most parents forget to do. This book will help your child develop understanding and use coping tools to handle the move by calming emotions. Meet Inbar Shahar. Her new book Rona is Moving to a new City! helps you prepare your child in a positive manner for the dreaded move. This book is a must-to-have resource when: you are planning to move and leave everything familiar behind; your child is sad, afraid or just struggling with moving to a new place; your child talks about missing friends and familiar faces; you are anxious yourself about how the move will affect your child. Rona is Moving to a new City! is based on a true story, as the author's niece Rona moved from Israel to Canada. This very personal adventure inspired Inbar Shahar to write a story about a girl who is facing the challenge to live in a new home, meet new friends and adjust to a new culture. This new book is not only great enjoyment to read, but more important it will help your child become ready when that move-date is across the corner. The secret: Children learn best from each other, and what is better than your child reading what Rona went through and how she dealt with her moving-pain? This book uses the concept of peer-teaching to help your child get to understand that moving to a new location is not as bad as it might feel. But don't wait too long, as preparing your child for the move is a lot easier than dealing with a child who is suffering and feeling even sadder after the fact. The best preparation for tomorrow is doing the best for your child today! Pick up your copy right now! Excerpt: We're moving out to a new house in a new city tomorrow, Rona doesn't want to move to a new city, she feels lonely and misses all her friends. Fluffy, her magical cat takes her through a process where she embraces her new situation and thrives. Don't cry, Rona, Fluffy said. Every ending is the beginning of something wonderful. Buy Today!
