Coached by his friend Lane, Judson makes campaign promises that inspire children across the country to send him contributions. This pressures parents to press for age restrictions. This obstacle doesn't stop him when he finds the ideal running mate, an elderly black woman. It's a perfect team, she's old he's young, she's black he's white. Very Good BookVon Ein KundeA 12 year-old is a candidate for U.S. president in this novel by Dan Gutman, a story with all the trappings of satire but none of its substance. KurzbeschreibungJust in time for election season, Dan Gutman's hugely popular THE KID WHO RAN FOR PRESIDENT is back. Humor, adventure, and excitement will draw kids into the world of elections and politics. "Hi! My name is Judson Moon. I'm 12 years old and I'm running for President of the YOU-nited States." So begins this fast-paced, funny, and surprising account of a boy's run for the Oval Office in the year 2000. Under the tutelage of Lane, his brainy friend and self-appointed campaign manager, the affable sixth-grader from Madison, Wisconsin, takes on the Democrats and Republicans as a Third Party candidate who can make waves. "Grown-ups have had the last one thousand years to mess up the world," Judd tells a reporter. "Now it's our turn." I got the idea for this book during the 1996 presidential campaign, when everybody was talking about how old Bob Dole was. It got me wondering--if somebody might be too old to be President, what would be too young to be President?
