Excellent pure Von Bacon's Bits Wow! What a read! Linda Greenlaw describes life on Isle au Haut near the Maine shore. She gives insight into life of a lobster(wo)man as well as shows the hardships and all the little golden moments of life on an island. Though being a tomboy, she shows very soft womanly sides to her character as well; and finds time for interesting portraits of cohabitants. Seems to be a Joanna Bennett from Elizabeth Ogilvie's series, but a real live one. Wanna get the feeling for island life? This is the real thing...

Kurzbeschreibung Declared a triumph by the New York Times Book , Linda Greenlaw's first book, The Hungry Ocean, appeared on nearly every major bestseller list in the country. Now, taking a break from the swordfishing career that earned her a major role in The Perfect Storm, Greenlaw returns to Isle au Haut, a tiny Maine island with a population of 70 year-round residents, 30 of whom are Greenlaw's relatives. With a Clancy-esque talent for fascinating technical detail and a Keillor-esque eye for the drama of small-town life, Greenlaw offers her take on everything from rediscovering home, love, and family to island characters and the best way to cook and serve a lobster. But Greenlaw also explores the island's darker side, including a tragic boating accident and a century-old conflict with a neighboring community. Throughout, Greenlaw maintains the straight-shooting, funny, and slightly scrappy style that has won her so many fans, and proves once again that fishermen are still the best storytellers around.

ber den Autor und weitere Mitwirkende Linda Greenlaw has been a deep-sea fisherman for 18 years, becoming the first and only female swordfish captain in the Grand Banks Fleet. This career earned her a prominent role in Sebastian Junger's runaway bestseller, The Perfect Storm and a portrayal in the subsequent film. She was raised in Maine and graduated from Colby College. Greenlaw now lives on Isle au Haut, Maine, where she captains a lobster boat.
