Von Mark Frost : The Match (English Edition) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Match (English Edition):

built in part from legendary events like Ouimet's historic win in Brookline. You need to add this story from Cypress Point to your after-round repertoire. Two wily veteran pros, Ben Hogan and Byron Nelson, help accept a challenge on behalf of George Coleman made by Eddie Lowery, Francis Ouimet's caddy at The Country Club in the U.S. win, that no one can beat Eddie's two amateur employees, Ken Venturi and Harvie Ward. Bets are placed and the game is on. To make the story even more interesting, Mark Frost gives us the histories of the people involved against the backdrop of the switch from an amateur focus for the game to a professional one. You'll also learn about how Cypress Point was developed. Working primarily from the memories of Byron Nelson and Ken Venturi, Mark Frost captures the scene almost as though he were an eye witness. Needless to say, the match contained some remarkable golf. I won't go into it, but I found my heart pounding many times as the competitive situations unfolded in the high stakes Nassau. I've never seen Cypress Point in person, and the story also interested me for its fine explanation of the course's layout in 1956. 0 von 0 Kunden fanden die folgende Rezension hilfreich. A must read for any golf history enthusiast. Von P. J. Somers Mark Frost most certainly has the skills to keep the readers attention, but with this material from which to work he produced a story impossible to put down. The game of golf has always been rich with characters and fine gentlemen whose stories are worth telling. Sadly today's youth are probably moving too swiftly to sit down and read and learn from these gentlemen, but they should.

Kurzbeschreibung The year: 1956. Eddie Lowery, once caddy to Francis Ouimet, now a wealthy car dealer and avid supporter of amateur golf, boasts to fellow millionaire George Coleman that two of his salesmen - US amateur champion Harvie Ward and up-and-coming star Ken Venturi - could beat any golfers in the world in a best ball match. Coleman asks Lowery how he plans to prove it. 'Bring any two golfers of your choice to the course tomorrow morning,' Lowery tells him, 'and we'll settle the issue.' Coleman shows up all right - with Ben Hogan and Byron Nelson, the game's greatest living professionals. In Mark Frost's peerless hands, complete with the recollections of all the participants, the story of this foursome and the greatest private match ever played comes vividly to life. Pressestimmen Gripping and exceptionally well researched and written (Times) A fantastic insight into the course and four of the world's greatest golfers (GQ) Werbetext The definitive account of a little-known but extraordinary match between two golfing legends and two young amateurs on the eve of Bing Crosby's pro-am tournament in 1956.
